Have No Chance to Forget.
Three separate invitations are usually sent to guests in China. The first is dispatched several days before the banquet, the second on the day itself, as a reminder, and the third about an hour before the sitting down to the table.

Experience.
"Simple Simon went a-fishing in his mother's pail." "Not so simple at that," declared an amateur sportsman. "I've spent time and money getting to a place where the likelihood of catching fish was no greater."

Not Enough.
"Swept by saline breezes and washed by the waves of the sea. That's our town." "Any other street-cleaning facilities?" Inquired the old grouch.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Another of the Mysteries.
One of the mysteries of life is how a foolish man can keep right on observing the ways of gentlemen and never acquire any of them for himself.—Detroit Free Press.

Better Than Riches.
A man who gives his children habits of industry provides for them better than by giving them a fortune.—Whately.

INDIA HOME OF TREE FERN

In That Country the Plant Attains the Dignity of a Splendid, Full-Grown Tree.

When we visit a botanical garden and behold specimens of palms and ferns so luxuriant that their crowns nearly touch the glassed-in conservatory. We rarely pause to realize that in their native haunts these tropical plants are trees. At Darjeeling, India, for instance, is the tree fern found in its greatest glory. The first few miles of the 2700 gauge railway journey from Calcutta passes through a dense jungle, with a vegetation of tropical luxuriance. Grass is 15 feet high, while from the feathery foliage of the tree fern peacocks and birds of many colors flaunt their beautiful plumage. As one runs along in the little motorless carriage which weighs under two tons, he realizes that the tree fern and all the other luxuriant foliage in this impenetrable jungle, shields the home of the tiger, rhinoceros, panther and wild dog.

There are no tree ferns in the United States, but 20 specimens or more are found in the high altitudes of the West Indies, and many more occur in other tropical regions. In some portions of the mountains of Jamaica, tree ferns attain 15' or more of the forced vegetation, their trunks varying from 6 to 30 feet in height.

BEAUTIFUL IN ITS COLORING

Green Warbler Remarkable Even Among American Birds for the Gorgeousness of Its Plumage.

Some birds get very nervous and become much excited if you approach their nests, and among them is the black-throated green warbler, says the American Forestry association. Another thing about this bird is that it frequently builds several nests. Whether this is because it changed its mind after building the first one and decided to select a better location or with the deliberate purpose of deceiving any intruders who might come along is not known. The bird is very beautifully colored, the top of its head and the region nearly down to the shoulders being a yellow green, the back olive green, the throat and breast jet black and the under parts white with some yellow in them at times.

If you are out bird hunting and are looking for that member of the warbler known as the pine warbler, you will be most likely to find it, as the name implies, in a pine grove. In fact it is seldom found outside of such localities. The bird is rather quiet in its manners and does not move about from one spot to another with as much fuss as do many birds. Like the creeper it has the habit of creeping about among the branches of the trees. It is greenish yellow above and brighter below, with two white wing bars and with white spots on its outer tail feathers.

Plants Demand Cold.

After the period of growth in spring and summer there is a period of dormancy before the cold weather sets in and if plants are maintained artificially at a high temperature this dormant period persists. Exposure to cold is needed to activate the plant for another period of growth. Perhaps the liberation of enzymes acts on the stored starches, converting them into sugars, or the phenomenon may be due to a change in the permeability of the cell-membrane. Though normally the stimulus required for a renewal of growth is supplied by cold, mechanical injury or a period of drying may have the same effect. The process occurs independently in any exposed part of a plant, so that if one or two branches of a plant be kept continually warm while the other is subjected to the usual winter chilling, the former will not develop on the return of summer temperature, though the latter develops as usual.

Living Superstitions.

The salmon fisheries of California used to be responsible for a queer custom on the part of the Indians. Every spring they would "dance for salmon." If the fish did not appear with the customary deemed appropriate, there would be employed a "wise man" who made an incense of a swimming fish, which was placed in the water in the hope of attracting live fish to the bait. The Japanese fishermen have the quaint notion that silence must be observed, and even the women left at home are not permitted to talk lest the fish should hear and disapprove. Among the members of the primitive race of Ainus, the first fish caught is brought in through a window instead of a door, so that the other fish "may not see."

Cruel Chinese Custom.

There is a cruel custom which prevails in some districts in South China in time of drought. A large collection of brass locks is made, and each is marked with a Chinese character. One iron lock is added to the pile, and duplicate slips are distributed among the male population of the villages. The unfortunate man whose slip holds the same writing on it as the iron lock must have a slit made in the front of his throat and through this the bar of the iron lock is passed. He is considered to be in some way the cause of the drought and must wear this lock until it rains. Blood poisoning often carries the victim off before the drought is broken.

Poor Advice.

"Don't marry the first girl you fall in love with; wait until you've seen the rest," advises the Montgomery Advertiser. Yes, and by the time you've seen the rest someone will have carried off the one you were in love with.

Good Man for A' That.

Thomas Jefferson, according to William M. Curtis, one of his biographers, was devoid of a sense of humor. Says the latter: "He rarely told a story and seldom enjoyed one, and witticisms were wasted in his presence."

Most men are afraid of making mistakes. I like men who make mistakes, who have the dash, the energy, the warm blood in their veins, to make mistakes. Everything in life is more or less a gamble. Timidity never accomplished anything in this world. Faith is the main-spring of enterprise. Mistakes make the game interesting. They lift it above the dead level, stimulate imagination, and keep hope young.—Frank Munsey.

Sapphires and Diamonds.

The sapphire is probably not as valuable as the diamond, roughly speaking, although comparison is difficult, owing to taste in color, and to the differing values as size increases. For instance, the price of a diamond rises in proportion to the square of its weight, a two-carat stone bringing four times as much as one of one carat. (Let me add that 151½ carats equal one ounce Troy weight.)

If evil is inevitable, how are the wicked accountable? Nay, why do we call men wicked at all? Evil is inevitable, but it is also remediable.—Horace Mann.

SABLE'S COUNTRY MARKET

CHARLES SCHMIELER

423 McKean Avenue,

Charleroi, Pa.

Wives for Colonists.

In 1621 on August 21 a cargo consisting of marriageable women was consigned at London to the colony of Virginia. The market price of these ladies, eleven maids and one widow, was set at 120 pounds of the best leaf tobacco for each maid. No reduction in price was mentioned for the widow.

New Term of Endearment.

It much disturbed Billy to have a friend address his baby brother as "a darling lamb." "His name is Leigh and he is not a lamb," he informed the woman, who explained that it was but an endearing term. Next day his mother heard him exclaiming over his brother as a precious little camel.

No Disgrace to Be Hypnotized.

An idiot or a person without considerable ability in concentrating his mind can not be hypnotized. The fact that one has been hypnotized is proof that he can hold his mind on one subject. It is, therefore, not to his discredit, but rather the contrary.

Junior, describing a beautiful, chubby little girl with two dimples in her cheeks, and also in her fat little arms, said: "Oh, daddy, you should have seen her. The smile it grooved right on her face, and even her arms have got little smiles on 'em!"

Language of the Cliff Dwellers.

The cliff dwellers, like so many other primitive peoples, because they had no written language, expressed themselves by means of signs and crude pictures, painted upon their earthenware vessels or upon the walls near their homes.

Prairie Version.

Lots of people live in a daze of darkness when all they have to do is to punch a hole in the roof and look upward to get light.—Ashland Bugle.

Avoid the "Know-It-All."

A well-educated man is always ready to admit that there are a lot of things he doesn't know. It's usually the know-nothing who is a know-it-all.

Birds Lack "Homing" Sense.

Although birds build nests, these are only used for breeding. Thousands of birds are killed by the cold each winter because they have no real "homing" sense.

He Did Something.

"Now I guess folks will know that old Capt. Simon has done something," said and he lay down and died.—Grand Rapids Herald.

Georgia Led in Local Option.

The first local option legislation for the suppression of the liquor traffic was enacted in Georgia in 1833.

Test for Diamonds.

It may be taken for granted that anything which will scratch a sapphire or a ruby is a diamond.

Daily Thought.

Better not be at all than not be noble.—Tennison.

NEVER PUT IN CIRCULATION

Dean Swift's Notable Victory in Campaign Against Unpopular Coin Designed for Ireland.

Wood's halfpence, which was to have been placed for use in Ireland by Great Britain about 200 years ago, was never circulated in Erin, as a result of the efforts of Jonathan Swift, at the time dean of St. Patrick's in Dublin, where he was in "exile," and who had for ten years previously been attacking the attitude of the British toward Ireland.

Swift's fight against the circulation of the coin came when Great Britain decided to farm out the contract for their manufacture to a certain William Wood, on condition that he should pay the government 1,000 pounds a year for 14 years. In his famous Drapier letters Swift gradually built up a picture of the ruin which Wood's halfpence were destined to bring upon Ireland. The government became alarmed. A report to the privy council made in July, 1724, defended the patent to Wood, but recommended that the amount to be coined be reduced.

In the end Lord Carteret was sent to Ireland as lord lieutenant to endeavor to settle the matter on the basis of this compromise. Lord Carteret offered a reward of 300 pounds for the discovery of the author of the Drapier letters, and ordered a prosecution against the printer upon his arrival. Swift boldly reproached him with his tyranny, then looked calmly on while the grand jury threw out the bill against the printer in spite of all the efforts of the chief justice to secure its return. The next grand jury presented Wood's halfpence as a nuisance which marked the end of it all, the coin never circulating in Ireland.

PREYS ON HARMFUL RODENTS

According to This Writer, the Owl Is Really a Good Friend of the Agriculturist.

Superstition still clings to the owl, due largely to ignorance and lack of education.

When twilight falls the owl comes forth from some remote recess where it has spent the day in sleep, and uttering a peevish cry, hurries out upon its foraging expedition. As the tired farmer is lost in refreshing sleep, this bird, against which the hand of man has been raised for centuries, commences its beneficial work which only ceases when the first rays of the morning sun come slanting over the hilltops, blinding its eyes and sending it quickly to cover.

The great orbs of the owl are remarkably developed and are keener in the early hours of the night and morning, when many harmful rodents are most active. Marvellous, indeed, is the sight that enables it to strike the tiny mouse in the darkness.

Owls are the natural check upon this multitude, and thus are of inestimable value to agriculture. From an economic standpoint, it would be hard to find a more useful bird.—Los Angeles Times.

England's Gleaning Bell.

Gleaning went out of fashion with the disappearance of the old windmills and watermills, because cottagers can no longer get their gleaned corn ground. But the "harvest bell," which notifies the villagers when they may begin gleaning and when they must cease, is still rung in some rural parishes within reach of London. At one place the "gleaning bell" rings from the tower of the parish church at 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. as soon as the harvest is sufficiently advanced. One penny is paid to the bell ringer by each family that gleanes, so he can hardly be called a profiteer.

Birds That Dig.

We are not accustomed to think of birds as burrowing animals, but the puffin answers to that description. It is a chunky little fowl, less than a foot high, with a large and powerful beak. For a home, it scratches a hole in the ground sometimes as much as four feet deep. To capture a puffin one must go digging. It is rather a job, and, inasmuch as the bird bites and claws fiercely, one is likely to suffer in the process. Thus the creature has maintained its numbers on many a lonely rookery, where other species of wild fowl have been killed off and exterminated.—Philadelphia Ledger.

British Broad Arrow.

The broad arrow is the mark cut or stamped on all British government stores to distinguish them as public or crown property, and to obliterate or deface which is a felony. Persons in possession of goods marked with the broad arrow forfeit the goods and are subject to a penalty. The broad arrow was the cognizance of Henry, viscount of Sydney, earl of Romney, master general of ordnance, 1693-1702, and was at first placed only on military stores. It is also the mark used in the British ordnance survey to denote points from which measurements have been made.

Tactless, Indeed.

Miss Giddy—How old do you think I am?
Tactless Man—Oh, I should say thirty-five.
Miss G.—Hm! You are ten years out of the way.
T. M.—Why, my dear lady! You can't really be forty-five!—Boston Transcript.

Material for Summer Blouses Here In Profusion

While Georgette is easily the most popular material for the dressy blouse, and we are showing a wonderful variety of both plain and figured Georgettes, still we have a beautiful showing of crepe de Chine, pongee, satin, figured voile and a variety of suitable cotton material.

By making these blouses with the aid of a McCall Pattern it will be possible for you to have so many more blouses for what you would ordinarily spend for one blouse ready-to-wear.

Georgette Blouse No. 9381

Requires $1\frac{1}{2}$ yards of plain Georgette at \$2.98 a yard and four silk tassels at 50c each. This blouse can be made for less than \$7.00, and this is easily one-third of what it would cost you would you buy it ready-to-wear. McCall Pattern No. 9381, 25c

Crepe de Chine Overblouse No. 9418

This is one of the latest slip-on models, lacing at the belt. It requires 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ yards of flesh, beige, or French blue crepe de Chine at \$2.98 a yard and three yards of navy grosgrain ribbon for lacing at 15c a yard. McCall Pattern No. 9418, 25c. This overblouse can be made for less than \$10.00. Compare it with anything you can buy ready-to-wear for twice that amount.

Pongee Sport Blouse No. 9416

This is a very popular model for the outdoor girl; requires $1\frac{1}{2}$ yards of silk pongee at \$2.75 a yard, $\frac{1}{2}$ yard of brown satin for the collar and tie at \$2.50 a yard. McCall Pattern No. 9416, 25c; and this beautiful sport blouse can be made for less than \$6.50.

Dress Blouse No. 9277

This is a very handsome model for dressy blouse with chemisette. It requires one yard of 36-inch satin at \$2.50 a yard, and $\frac{1}{2}$ yard of net for the vest at \$1.00 a yard. McCall Pattern No. 9277, 25c. This very attractive blouse can be produced for \$3. It requires a very little time to make.

Overblouse No. 9415

Another slip-on model that is very attractive requiring $1\frac{1}{2}$ yards of taffeta at \$2.98 a yard and two tassels at 50c each. McCall Pattern No. 9415, 25c. This blouse can be produced for less than \$7.00 if you will make it yourself.

Crocodile's Agony.
The moment that a young crocodile breaks its shell it is to all intents and purposes as active as it is at any time during its life. It will make straight for the water, even if it be out of sight, and a good distance off, and it will pursue its prey with eagerness and agility during the first week of its free existence.

The Brainy Bee.
The following incident testifies to the remarkable sagacity and efficiency of bees. A hive was being "spied upon" by a wasp. When wasps ascertain a hive is worth attacking they often succeed in cutting the bees. Every time the wasp approached the small entrance hole a bee came out. An hour later the wasp was dead.

Didn't Seem Funny to Him.
Little Augusta had never seen a bald-headed man closely until one day a friend of the family came to dinner. When we were all seated at the table Augusta looked very intently at his bald head for several minutes, then whispered in mother's ear: "Mother, hasn't Mr. Reid funny, shiny, pink hair?"—Exchange.

American Independence.
Great Britain acknowledged the independence of the United States by a preliminary treaty of peace dated November 30, 1782, and by the final or definite treaty dated September 3, 1783. This treaty was ratified by the continental congress January 14, 1784.

Adhesive Tape.
People who have spent hours of agony from wearing new shoes over corns will find that strips of adhesive plaster applied over corns and across the heels, where blisters so often appear, will insure solid comfort.

Durable Male Beauty.
One reason why a man doesn't look into a mirror as often as a woman does is because he has more confidence in the durability of his beauty. —Galveston News.

Australia Has Spare Land.
South Australia, with an area of more than 240,000,000 acres, has only slightly more than 5,000,000 acres under cultivation.

Public Shines for Turk Women.
It is quite customary now for Turkish women to have their shoes shined at the public stands in the streets.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HAS JAPANESE LESSON

The Women's Missionary Society of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church had a lesson Thursday afternoon that was enjoyable to the large assembly present. The room was tastefully decorated with spring flowers and a Japanese exhibit included curios from the different walks of life in Japan. There were silk kimonos, sandals, idols, chopsticks, etc., and the descriptions were very entertaining. Mrs. R. G. Whitehead had charge of the program, assisted by Mrs. Stewart McKean, Mrs. Eliza Allman, Mrs. David Woodward and Mrs. Emma Dawson. The special music was a trio composed of Mrs. John Metz, Mrs. John H. Clutter and Rev. Burson, accompanied by Miss Bethel Bowman. A letter from the mountains giving a description of the work accomplished during the year was listened to with rapt attention, and the society voted to supply the needs mentioned by Miss Clutter, and a committee was appointed to have charge of the work. Mrs. F. C. Stahlman gave a synopsis of the "New Era" plans for the year and the meeting closed with a social hour, the hostesses being Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Steek, Mrs. James Dawson, Mrs. South, Mrs. Leith and Mrs. Rockwell.

Resolutions.

At a meeting of the Monongahela Valley Central Trades Council attended by delegates representing twenty-two affiliated craft unions the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, We the delegates assembled wish to go on record in thanking the delegates in the Miners Convention in Pittsburgh on the 5th day of May for their action in offering a reward of $5,000 for the apprehension and conviction of the murderers of Fanny Sellins and Joseph Salsiska.

TRAINED ANIMALS WITH JOHN ROBINSON'S CIRCUS, CHARLEROI SATURDAY, MAY 8 1920.

EXECUTORS' SALE OF VALUABLE STOCK

The undersigned Executors of Thomas E. Lilley, late of East Pike Run Township, Washington County, Penn'a, will offer at public sale, at his late residence in said township, on Thursday, May 27, 1920 at 1:30 p. m. 500 shares of the capital stock of the Lilley Coal and Coke Company, a corporation, or such part thereof as the Executors may deem proper to sell. The par value of this stock is $100.00 per share, fully paid and non-assessable. The total authorized capital is $500,000.00. Further details will be furnished to all bona fide prospective bidders upon request at the office of said company at Charleroi, Pa.

The company operates under written contracts with decedent, Thomas E. Lilley, (1) dated February 9th, 1912, recorded February 10th, 1912, in the records office of Washington County, Pa., in Deed Book Vol. 393, Page 318, and (2) dated April 1st, 1912, recorded April 10th, 1912, in said Recorder's office, in Deed Book Vol. 394, Page 434, and (3) dated May 22nd, 1918, recorded June 6th, 1918 in said Recorder's office in Deed Book Vol. 457, Page 281, for the mining of the Pittsburgh vein of coal under certain lands therein described, at thirty cents per ton, on a royalty basis. On date of decedent's death there remained unmined approximately 523.5 acres of minable coal.

The said corporation owns approximately 100 acres of surface land and approximately 3700 acres of undeveloped Pittsburgh coal, with mining rights, in what is known as the Washington field, situate in the Borough of Washington and in North Franklin, South Franklin South Strabane and Amwell Townships, Washington Co., Pennsylvania; also a two story frame house and lot in said Borough of Washington. Subject to unpaid mortgage indebtedness of approximately $349,547.16. See official records of Washington County for full and complete information on this subject.

This stock will be offered in two ways, viz:

1. In blocks of 50 shares each, with privilege of not over nine additional similar blocks. If the highest bidder for the first block does not elect to take all of the nine additional blocks, the remaining blocks will then be offered.

2. In one block of 500 shares. The highest bids by the first plan will be recorded and held until the same stock is offered by the second plan. Sale will be made by which ever plan brings the largest total sum for the stock sold.

Terms of Sale.

Cash or certified check for $5,000.00 for each fifty shares sold when the same is knocked down; otherwise the stock will be again immediately re-offered for sale. Balance of bid on delivery of stock certificate within twenty days from date of sale.

Delivery and final payment to be made at Room 1, Armstrong Building, Brownsville, Pa.

The Executors reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

TRY A CLASSIFIED WANT AD

tree is the abundance of sweet sap which it furnishes, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. While all the maples have sweet sap none of the others are so important as sugar producers. This was appreciated in early times and a century and a quarter ago when the real estate men of the time were attempting to lure New England men to Pennsylvania lands "out west" they put on their map in big letters, "The Sugar Tree Grows Here."

Memorial in Jerusalem.
In grateful remembrance of Scotland's sons who gave their lives for the liberation of the Holy land from the Turk, a memorial in Jerusalem is planned. It will be erected jointly by the Church of Scotland and the United Free Church of Scotland and will take the form of an Institute for Biblical Research and a Presbyterian church. It will be called the Scots' Kirk and College in Jerusalem.

Can You Build a Bird House?
The most talented singer in the world, not even excepting the nightingale, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington, is the hermit thrush. A bird house building contest is arousing great interest among school children and the magazine is giving blue ribbons to the prize winners in schools throughout the country.

Hanging Too Good for This Man.
The meanest man has been found. He was in Philadelphia the other day. He robbed an old woman, at the entrance of the receiver of taxes office in the city hall, of her pocket book, which contained her tax bill and $73 with which to pay it; and two hours later mailed her the bill, after writing on it, "Ha! Ha! Pay your taxes."

His Fellow-Feeling.
Henry had been severely scolded for not turning off the water after he had been playing in the bath tub. Some time later there was a cloudburst near his home, and as he was watching the flooded streets his mother heard him say to himself, "I bet some angel is catching it for forgetting to turn off the water."

Wash-Day on the Deep.
On her first trip to Nantasket, little Bess remarked as she looked over the side of the steamer: "Mamma, they put too much bluing in this water." Which reminds us of another tot who exclaimed on seeing the wake of a steamer: "Oh, look, mother, that boat is losing all its soap."—Boston Transcript.

Better Late Than Never.
The strangest wedding I ever saw was that of an aged aunt, who in her youth had had a suitor who went off to make his fortune and never returned until, old and infirm, but wealthy, he returned to claim his old sweetheart, who was so feeble she had to remain in a wheel chair during the ceremony. —Chicago Tribune.

Movement of Sun and Moon.
Both sun and moon move about the earth from east to west. In reality the sun is fixed. The moon revolves from east to west around the earth as its satellite, and both earth and moon move in common around the sun which is fixed, though the motion of the earth about it makes the sun appear to move about the earth from east to west.

Double Tongued.
Dorothy wished to tell her aunt about another little girl who lived a few doors away. It happened that the other little girl stuttered. As Dorothy didn't know her name and didn't know the word "stutter," she said: "Oh, auntie, you know the little girl that talks double."

Law and Order.
It does not matter what my enemies may accuse me of; in all my life I have been on the side of law and order, and I have never inquired whether those twin institutions were white or yellow. Decency is like gold, the same in all countries. —Li Hung Chang

WILL SIFT ANCIENT MOUNDS

Archaeologists Plan Most Thorough Examination of Structures at Camp Sherman, in Ohio.

Excavations of seven prehistoric mounds at Camp Sherman will be started by Dr. William C. Mills, curator of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society. The farm on which the mounds are situated was one of those condemned and purchased by the government for Camp Sherman. The only examination ever made of the mounds was by Squier and Davis in 1846. Relics they uncovered were purchased by the Blackmore museum, Salisbury, Eng., and for $10,000.

Squier and Davis were responsible for the conclusion that the mounds were built by a distinct race, known as "Mound Builders." This theory is vigorously contested by Doctor Mills and other noted archaeologists. They say there is conclusive evidence that the mounds were built by American Indians of the Algonquin family. Squier and Davis, in their examination of the mounds, merely tunneled several of the mounds. Doctor Mills will completely tear them down, sifting a great part of the dirt through screens. There are 23 mounds in the group. Some already have been excavated by Doctor Mills. One was found to contain 133 skeletons and 12,000 specimens of flint, copper and pottery implements and vessels.

"Little Zion" Becomes Park.
Three hundred miles south of Salt Lake City and reached by automobile from Lund, Utah, is Little Zion canyon, the newest of American national playgrounds.

The canyon derives its name from Salt Lake City, which about 50 years ago was known as Zion. Brigham Young and other Mormons visited the district and the inhabitants decided that they would call the canyon "Little Zion," evidently considering Salt Lake City a big place.

Within the last few years, Little Zion canyon has been visited by a large number of tourists and some of them have termed it "The Rainbow of the Desert."

There are deep canyons with cliffs of blood red and cliffs of cream white rising to a height of 2,500 feet. Huge natural bridges and level-topped plateaus, with precipitous cliffs and picturesque amphitheaters, provide a picture that strikes one with awe.—Christian Science Monitor.

Wesleyan College the Oldest.
Wesleyan college at Macon, Ga., was founded in 1836, and is therefore older than Elmira college, chartered in 1832. It is the oldest woman's college in the United States.

NO "ROUGHING IT" FOR JAPS

Oriental on Pacific Coast Not to Be Lured From the Conveniences of City Life.

J. F. Brown, sage and philosopher of Notre's board of strategy table, has some sad experiences with Japanese laborers, particularly when wanted for his ranch on Molokai. He says he has made the rounds of Japanese auto stands where orientals in spick-and-span clothes wait and loaf all day long for a passenger, content to do that rather than take a real honest-to-goodness job. He makes his offer of wages, good wages, with house and fuel and water and so on.

Sucking his breath through his teeth, and after some reflection, the Japanese inquires:

"You got barber shop there?"
Brown was taken off his feet when this question was first propounded. No, he didn't know of a barber shop around. His ranch is well up in the mountains, one of the most beautiful places in the islands.

"You got store?"
Brown confesses to a store three miles away. More reflection.

"You got picture house?"
Brown blinks at this question even now.

Finally, the Japanese says one thing more.
"No can go. Me got brother very-very seek. Too bad, I sorry."—Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

States With Spanish Names.
The following state names are of Spanish derivation: California—hot furnace; Colorado—color red; Florida—feast of flowers; Nevada—snow covered; Oregon—wild marjoram.

Coming and Going.
An electric toy boat on a shallow French canal has propellers on both ends and is driven either by storage batteries or power obtained from an overhead wire.

Rudeness Unpardonable.
A man has no more right to say an uncivil thing than to act one; no more right to say a rude thing to another than to knock him down.—Johnson.

Must Be Discreet.
Of course every man ought to be liberal with his wife, but there is no sense in giving her enough money to hire a divorce lawyer.

Optimistic Thought.
Titles may be purchased, but virtue is the only coin that makes the bargain valid.

ITS "CULTURE" A TRADITION

"Highbrow" City of Bogota, in Colombia, Does Not Really Live Up to Its Reputation.

Bogota, the capital of the Republic of Colombia, is a sort of South American Boston. Ever since the days when it was a colony of Spain it has been accounted a "highbrow" town and its name has been associated with literature, art, science and education. It is filled with sculpture, which ranges in subject from local heroes to great figures in Spanish history. There are many schools and colleges, a museum and an astronomical observatory.

Despite all this, the intellectual atmosphere of Bogota is more of a tradition than a reality. No great works of art have been produced there. The city is full of poets, but that is true of every city in Latin America, where young men and women compose and recite poetry as a social diversion, just as they play the piano and sing songs in this country. The scientists of Bogota have made some real progress, especially in archeology and natural history.

Many of the people of Bogota are Spaniards of the purest descent. When the country was colonized by the Spaniards centuries ago the colonists retired to the high Andean region and have lived there ever since in an isolation which has kept them true to type. These Spaniards form the ruling class, the rest of the people being "mestizos" of mixed Spanish and Indian blood.

Bogota is situated at an elevation of almost 9,000 feet and enjoys a splendid climate.

FIRST USED BY FRENCH KING

Expression Now So Common, "Let George Do It," Said to Have Originated With Louis XII.

Many people go no further back than to the well-known play to account for the interesting little ejaculation, "Let George Do It." Its sentiment appeals to all of us strongly, when we wish to shift a disagreeable task from our own shoulders to those of some other available person, whom we make ourselves believe is more efficient—perhaps we are lazy. Incidentally, we may succeed also in making him believe that he is the only person for the job.

It may chance that we have the legal and ethical right to request George to do it and that it is tolerably certain that George will patiently receive and discharge the responsibility; or it may be that we merely wash our hands of the matter and with a shrug of the shoulders proceed on our way, remarking, "I can't. Let George do it."

However that may be, remarks the Kansas City Star, the origin of the sentence is this: Louis XII of France, himself a strong ruler, was fortunate to have a prime minister who was a clever executive and possessed of good sense, George d'Amboise. To him Louis referred many of the most delicate and onerous affairs of the kingdom. Things turned out so satisfactorily under George's manipulation that Louis' slogan came to be "Que Georges le fasse" (Let George do it).

Memory in Writing.

Most of the too few painters I know talk easily enough, but when one of them is talking to another I notice how often he hesitates, not for a word, but for a memory. His eye is waiting until it sees with the needed degree of distinctness the color or form of the thing he is talking about.

So a writer will often stop, hesitate, hang back, until memory has brought his subject into the field of vision, where he will hold this subject until his remembering eye has seen what he was looking for concretely, and the words he was after come of them selves. They will not be the words that would have come if he had not made this effort to remember.

To the good memory, the memory that can command things seen, heard, felt or understood, comes the phrase that nobody ever thought of before, in its fresh exactness.—Philip Littell.

Can you conceive any covering fitter for the hills of the sun itself than this magnificent furze, as it appears in England, robing the heaths and commons all over the country? It is a golden undulation, a foreground, and from some points of view a middle distance, fit to make the richest painter despair, a veritable field of cloth of gold. Morning, when the dawn is of a fineness to match, must look beauty for beauty on it. Sunset is glory. The gold goes marching away in the distance toward the dark trees; like the rich evening of a poetic life. No wonder Linnaeus, when he came to England and first beheld this shrub in bloom, fell on his knees and thanked God.—Leigh Hunt.

Birds' Clever Nutcrackers.

There are certain kinds of birds that can crack nuts. The nuthatches have a clever manner of cracking nuts. They first wedge the nuts in the crevices of the bark of a tree and then pick at them with their bills until the nuts are opened. Woodpeckers use their tails for support as they climb the trunk of a tree, but the nuthatches usually climb with their tail pointed to the zenith.

When the nuthatches call it sounds as if they were saying, "Yank, yank, yank," and this strange noise is heard from both the white-breasted and the red-breasted birds, says the American Forestry association of Washington.

Little-Known Race.

In the extreme north of the Russian province of Archangel dwells one of the queerest and least known races of mankind. These are the Samoyedes, the wandering tribes of the vast frozen marshes which extend in these regions from the forest belt to the shores of the Arctic ocean. They worship idols and their sole wealth consists in reindeer. Living, the reindeer draws the sledge which transports the Samoyede and his belongings from spot to spot in search of the game and fish, which constitute his principal sustenance. Dead, it provides him with meat in times of scarcity, and with skin for his family tent. With its sharpened bones he tips his wooden fishing harpoons and hunting spears. Its sinews he uses to sew together the shirt, breeches, and boots of seal-skin, which are the attire alike of the Samoyede men, women and children.

Chinese Ingenuity.

The inhabitants of the flowery land, it seems, are not immune, any more than the natives of less-favored countries, from the attentions of certain very active insects; but they are much more ingenious in dealing with them, says London Answers. They have invented a kind of little trap, which they place in their beds and elsewhere. The main principle of this trap is that it contains a sticky surface, which effectually trammels the feet of the strongest and most active insect that ventures upon it. There are charitable societies in China, instituted for the purpose of supplying these traps to poor people, and many persons gain their livelihood by calling round regularly to renew the sticky surfaces of the traps. They have a regular round of clients.

"Move Up."

Life is opportunity no matter where it is located. The right inner stimulus gives vision and the right expression of vision is toil. Learn to see life through its vista of possibilities and you get the unquenchable incentive to move up. Grumblers and complainers will move aside to make way for your progress while you rub shoulders with men and women who make living worth while. Each in his way ministers to his fellows and the untolding rabble lives on the crumbs that drop from their abundance. Envy and criticism may grow loud and abusive. These but test the bigness within. The truly big have no time for retort, but with giant strides move on.

Catbird Imitates.

The catbird is so called because the note by which he is most commonly known is like the meow of a cat, but as a matter of fact he imitates almost every other sound he hears, says the American Forestry Association of Washington. It has been said that the catbird can imitate anything from a squawking cartwheel to the song of a thrush. He sings along apparently without knowing what he is going to improvise next. In color this bird is rather somber, being dark gray with a black cap. He is one of the most common birds throughout the United States, although rare west of the Rockies.

Unsatisfying.

The serious and responsible life of an ordinary prosperous man, fulfilling the requirements of our social organization, fatigues, and neither completely satisfies nor completely occupies. Still less does the responsible part of the life of a woman, of the prosperous classes, engage all her energies or hold her imagination. And there has grown up a great informal organization of employments, games, ceremonies, social routines, travel, to consume these surplus powers and excess cravings, which might otherwise change or shatter the whole order of human living.—H. G. Wells.

Family Mixup.

Last year I asked my best girl to become my wife, and she said "No." But I got even with the girl. I married her mother. Then my father married the girl. Now I don't know what I am. When I married the girl's mother the girl became my daughter, and when father married my daughter she was my mother. Who in the dickens am I? My mother's mother (which is my wife) must be my grandmother, and I being my grandmother's husband, I am my own grandfather.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

The rapacious birds breed slowly, only one brood being reared a year. Hawks and owls mate for life and their domestic history is full of happiness and interest. They are complementary to each other, the hawks hunting by day, the owls by night—the work of one supplementing that of the other. The eye of the bird of prey is the most perfect organ of sight that exists, and were it not for this class of birds the hilly districts would soon be overrun with harmful rodents.

Revenge.

Revenge is wrong. Let alone that the wisest and best of all judges has condemned it, it blackens the hearts of men. It distorts their views of right. It sets them to devise evil. It causes them to think unjustly of others. It is not the noblest return for injury, not even the bravest way of meeting it. The greatest courage is to bear persecution, not to answer when you are reviled, and when a wrong has been done you to forgive.—Thackeray.

Too Big a Word for David.

David is a little boy five years old, and a patient of Sunnyside. He always watches the nurse very closely when she takes his temperature, pulse, and respiration. One day he was lying in bed with his chest bare, watching himself breathe. "What are you doing, David?" asked the nurse as she came upon him suddenly. "Why, I am watching myself get well," was his reply.—Indianapolis News.

Beauty.

Talk as we may of beauty as a thing to be chiseled from marble or wrought out on canvas; speculate as we may upon its colors and outlines; what is it but an intellectual abstraction, after all? The heart feels a beauty of another kind; looking through the outward environment, it discovers a deeper and more real loveliness.—Whittier.

Human Nature.

Modern thinking, proposing to found morality solely upon the principles of human nature, will have to take account of all there is in human nature. And one of the first things we meet there is the necessity, in order that man may come to his true self, that he is possessed by something, some one beyond himself.—Jonathan Brierley.

Virginia Dare.

Virginia Dare, the first child of English parentage born in America, first saw the light of day on Aug. 18, 1587. Her native place was on the island of Roanoke, Virginia, now North Carolina. Her father was William Dare and her mother Eleanor, the daughter of John White, governor of the second agricultural colony sent by Sir Walter Raleigh to the Carolinas.

Too Much to Bear.

"Amelia," said old Mr. Binderton as he finished his dinner. "I'm going to ask you to do me a favor. I want you to give your young man, Mr.—Mr.—I forget his name—a message from me." Amelia blushed and looked down at her plate. "Tell him," her blimp old parent went on, "that I don't object to his staying here and running up my gas bill, but that I do object to his carrying the morning paper away with him when he leaves!"

RHEUMATISM

OF THE WORST KIND POSITIVELY RELIEVED

Money Back If It Fails

No matter how chronic, acute or long standing your Rheumatism, Neuritis, Lumbago, Ezema or Skin Eruptions may be, here at last is positive relief. If it fails, you will not lose a penny, for we will refund your money without question.
Read this remarkable case: "It is with great pleasure that I am writing you of the wonderful merits of SUFFLUID for Neuritis. My wife has been a terrible sufferer for three years from this disease and could not walk without the use of braces. Her joints were swollen to twice their normal size. Her pains were agonizing. For two years she was helpless. After using SUFFLUID, you can imagine my surprise last evening when she walked from her chamber to the parlor in her stocking feet, the first time in three years she has been able to bear weight on her feet without the use of braces. Thinking this would please you, I am, respectfully, BEST, F. WALKER, New York City."
SUFFLUID is not a medicine. It is used as a bath and is exactly the same as you get in the famous Hot Sulphur Springs resorts. It is absolutely harmless. A complete treatment will drive all pain away. Try it. If it fails we will refund your money. Booklet on request.

REVENGE THAT WAS COSTLY

Australian Farmer's Fancy Method of Pest Destruction Could Hardly Be Called a Success.

A farmer living near Boree Creek, New South Wales, was greatly annoyed by the depredations of a hawk, which almost daily took toll among his chickens. Finally, after a good deal of trouble, he succeeded in trapping the bird alive, and, smarting under his losses, resolved upon a really elaborate revenge. Procuring a supply of "gell" (explosive), he fastened it to the unfortunate hawk's leg and attached a long fuse to it. Then, having lit the fuse, he released the bird and waited for it to fly into the air to annihilate. However, the trick failed to work. Somewhat dazed, no doubt, by the rough handling it had received, the hawk obstinately refused to move from a position near the door of the "bumpy."

With the fuse sputtering fiercely, the farmer began to get uneasy, and he did all in his power to scare this "feathered mine" away, but at first with little success. Finally it rose in the air—but only to settle on his roof, near the chimney. Shouting and bombardment with stones and sticks alike failed to move it from this position, and with the perspiration streaming down his face and his hair beginning to stand on end the farmer was ultimately obliged to take to his heels for his own safety. The bird sat doggedly on the roof till the end came; then the luckless squatter, looking back, saw roof, chimney and hawk so up in one terrific explosion. He has now sworn off all fancy methods of pest destruction.—Wide World Magazine.

WHAT GIVES SKY BLUE TINT

Simple Explanation of Matter to Which Probably Few Have Given
Much Attention.

Not one person in a hundred could give a satisfactory answer to the question, Why is the sky blue?
And yet the explanation, as given by Professor W. H. Bragg, at the British Royal Institution, is quite simple.

The blue sky, he explained, is due to the interception of particles in the atmosphere of the blue rays which form a part of the white light of the sun. The parts of white light conveyed by longer red and yellow light waves manage to jump the many substances in the atmosphere and are seen at sunrise and sunset.

The professor illustrated his meaning by showing a disc of light on the screen which, passing through a bowl of water, became gradually redder as the water got cloudier, till at last, after an imitation of the sun in a November fog, it faded away.

Professor Bragg has also revealed some of the mysteries of sound. If you put a stick in a revolving bowl of water, it sets up little whirlpools behind it. In the same way the wind rushing past trees forms whirlwinds on a small scale, and these cause those sounds so admirably described by the imitative word "soughing." Similar sounds are set up by telegraph wires.

Tracition and Superstition.

The moon of course, is the source, or reason, or what you will, of many superstitions. As one grows older possibly the moon becomes less an object of romance than formerly, but the sense of beauty is never lost—even though some otherwise sane people object, as long as they live, to seeing the lovely new moon over their left shoulder. Frankly, we do not know the reason of this fear. In the course of a busy and, we trust, useful life we have never happened to hear the reason. But it is well to assume that there is one.

Tradition is interesting; superstition is common. Perhaps we have too few traditions in this country and too many superstitions. But most of us will proudly affirm that we believe in all the good traditions and in no superstitions whatever—and maybe we all shall be telling the truth.—Exchange.

Tides in the Bay of Fundy.

The Bay of Fundy is noted for its high tides. At the head of the bay a rise of 62 feet is known, and in Passamaquoddy bay, which indents New Brunswick near the border of the state of Maine, a rise of 25 feet is not uncommon. At St. John the rise varies from 20 to 27 feet. At Moncton the tide rushes up the estuary a crest or wave of water from 3 to 6 feet high. At most places the tide rises gradually, but not slowly, each wave rolling up on the shore a little higher than the preceding one. There are two high tides in every 24 hours. For instance, say at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and at 10 at night, and on the following day the two high tides will be one hour later, and so on.

Good Old Cheap Coal Days.

In the good old days of 1812 one could step out with a couple of dollars and come home with food and fuel sufficient to supply a good-sized family for a week. Facts regarding living expenses a century ago are contained in a letter from John Sims, great-grandfather of Admiral Sims, to his wife, Molly, dated Unlontown, 15th October, 1812. At that time, board and lodging for two cost $3.50 a week. Coal was 6 cents a bushel. Chickens, still wearing their feathers, cost 75 cents a dozen. Beef was from 8 to 8½ cents a pound, while butter retailed from 12½ cents a pound.

Spinning Tops.

All spinning bodies possess curious properties, which they do not possess when in the state of rest. Stand a top on its peg and it will immediately fall over, but spin the top and it will stand up so long as the spinning motion is present. Spinning bodies seem to possess or acquire a rigidity when they are spinning; for example, a steel chain, placed over a wheel which is spinning at a high rate of speed, and suddenly jerked off, will go running along the street like a hoop, and will only collapse into a limp pile of chain when its spinning motion comes to a stop. Our earth is a spinning body, and hence possesses all the curious properties which spinning bodies do. It points to the pole star, like all spinning bodies, for every spinning body—a top, a wheel, anything—if under no restraint in its movement will gradually turn on its axis and point to the pole star. If our earth were to stop spinning it would immediately fall into the sun! Spinning bodies also have a tendency to stand up on end—that is, on their long axis. If you spin an egg-shaped body it will always endeavor to "stand on its hind legs" so to speak, and spin on one of its ends.—Hereward Carrington, in Leslie's.

New Method of Color Study.

An English scientist has, according to the Popular Mechanics Magazine, worked out a method of taking exact measurements of color. Black, white and gray are photometrically compared with standard white and their composition expressed in percentage of black or white. A color, such as red, is compared with a white surface in a pure red light. If the red appears darker, it is matched with a gray surface under red light, the percentage of black then being the same in both. Assigning the number 25 to red, such a composition as cinabar would be signified by the figures 25.04 18, meaning red with 4 per cent of white and 18 per cent of black.

Hustle Once in a While.

No man is fit for either games or business who moves as though he hadn't been to bed for the past three nights. Some may think it's a mark of distinction to move slowly. That may be where age and dignity is concerned, but it's badly off where the hustle and bustle of youth strives for preference. This grand old motion is the prelude of defeat and nothing but a real jogging up can insure against it. When once the disease gets a start it increases in violence and even becomes contagious. Nothing but a burst of real enthusiasm that makes the lagard forget himself can insure a better success. Often it takes defeat to bring the tired artist to his senses.

No Need to Stay "Canned."

Folks deserve to be "canned" who stay down with the first defeat. No man is fit to rise who is untested. But too often men take the testing as the consignment to defeat. The possibility of such a thing should stir all the red blood to rebellion. The real man rises in proportion to the task and becomes stronger with the struggle. Only the unfit are long "canned," for they never learn from experience. The really fit come from the ordeal stronger to meet new situations because of trial and rejoice that they can win on their own merit. So do your best and you can show the world you can't be "canned."—Grit.

Be sure of it. Be sure that to have found the key to one heart is to have found the key to all; that truly to love is truly to know; and truly to love one is the first step towards truly loving all who bear the same flesh and blood with the beloved. All knowledge is love, and all love knowledge; even with the meanest, we cannot gain a glimpse into their inward trials and struggles without an increase of sympathy and affection.—Exchange.

Almost Fell Victim to Gluttony.

Another chapter has to be added to the volume of feats of endurance by pigs. The latest hero is a porker of Benenden, Kent, England, which, seeing a stack of peas, decided to eat it. Its imagination proved greater than its appetite, however, and for a week piggy was missing. Then, suspecting nothing, men went to thrash the stack and found the strayed prodigal in the very heart of it. It had eaten its way there, but had been unable to devour a way to the other side or retreat by the way it had entered. Fresh air and water quickly restored the prisoner, however, and all was well.

Presidential Inauguration.

March 4 was chosen by the constitutional convention as the time for organizing and convening congress, by resolution of Sept. 13, 1788. The delay between election and inauguration was intended evidently to give legislators and executives time to reach the capital in those days of slow traveling. Washington was not inaugurated until April 30, 1789, because of delays, but his term of office was considered to have begun on March 4. The act of March 1, 1792, fixed the date of inauguration as the 4th day of March.

Powder Misapplied.

On the train home from Chicago I carried my aunt's parasol and her box of powder. Arriving at our home town, I handed her the parasol, forgetting I had put the powder in it. A crowd of town boys was at the station to meet the 5:20, including auntie's beau—she was a young aunt. As said beau opened the parasol for her, the two of them were showered with face powder. Did the crowd scream? I got mine when we reached home.—Exchange.

So far only the upper and lower courses of the Nile river are navigable throughout the entire year. The six cataracts, which extend 1,100 miles, with long stretches of smooth water between them, prevent the Middle Nile from being available for important navigation except at very high flood.

Oldtime Mirrors.

Mirrors were used by Anglo-Saxon women slung to their girdles. The same custom prevailed in the time of Elizabeth and James I. They formed the center of many fashions at that period and later. Before glass was invented horn and metal were used.

Production of Jade.

Practically all the jade now mined comes from Burma, though New Zealand is a producer of some note. China takes practically the entire output. In Burma the privilege of mining it has been held by the same Indian or Shan tribe for many generations.

IMPRESSION PREVAILS THAT NO ROADS WILL BE IMPROVED

At Least They Are To Be Sidetracked In This County

CHARLEROI TO MAKE PROTEST

The Donora Herald says that possibly not one mile of new road will be built in Washington county this year and those Donora citizens who had hoped for the improvement of the highway from Lock Four to Monongahela, commencing with the Monongahela Valley Country Club, "may as well abandon hope of that enterprise unless local arrangements for improvement of the road is entered into."

The Herald says this announcement comes following the meeting of the Washington County Good Roads Association at Washington on Monday, and further, "the association will recommend a discontinuance of the road building program with a proper maintenance of such roads as are now completed."

This is the impression Charleroi representatives obtained after a close-up view of the proceedings of the meeting at Washington on Monday. And it is likely that such a program would have gone through, and the State Highway Department furnished with a set resolution asking that such a policy be followed, had it not been for Squire Scott, of North Charleroi, who, figuratively speaking threw a monkey wrench into the works and practically stopped such a proceeding.

The State Highway Department is not going to give up its program of building roads. Only this week it awarded a contract for a long stretch of roadway in Butler which will cost over $62,000 a mile. Those in Washington county will cost as much if not more. If the county had gone on record against the improvement of all roads costing more than $50,000 a mile, it would mean that no roads would be improved in the county. If we do not take our share of the money furnished by the state, some other county will.

The purpose of the meeting to be held next Thursday evening is to take such steps as may be deemed advisable. That the State and county be roused into a sufficient state of activity to begin at once the improvement of the roadway between Speers and Coal Centre. Charleroi people are indignant and they have a right to be. Their only means of ingress and egress by way of improved road, whether they be going north, east, south or west, is by way of Maple creek, and that highway adjacent to Charleroi is in a bad state of repair. True some work is being done on the highway but it is only of a temporary character, and before the summer is over it will be as bad as ever.

Charleroi proposes to give expression to its opinion on Thursday evening next and to that end all citizens are urged to be at the meeting.

VISITING JUDGES TO ASSIST IN TRIALS

Owing to the illness of Judge McIlvaine, Judge McLaughlin of Mercer county, and Judge Baldwin of Beaver county, will assist Judge Brownson in criminal court at Washington, during the May term of criminal court which will begin on Monday next. Judge McIlvaine is not expected to sit at this term.

EXECUTORS APPEAL FROM AUDITOR GENERAL

An appeal has been filed in the Orphans' Court of Washington county for Thomas Elliott and Jacob Elliott, executors of the last will and testament of Thomas Lilley, deceased, late of West Brownsville, by their counsel, Cotton & Cotton, of Uniontown. The appeal has been taken on the assessments of decedent's estate by the Register of Wills of Washington county, acting as agent for the Auditor General.

The items appealed from are as follows:

First: An appraisal of 523.5 acres of coal in East Pike Run township, covered royalty agreement with the Lilley Coal & Coke company at $950,203.42.

The executors claim that this is excessive. They figure its fair value at $763,560.30.

Second: The coal underlying the land located between the railroad and river, which was appraised as 30 acres, the executors claiming there is but 20 acres of coal lying there under.

The amount of state tax involved in the above is said to be in excess of $10,000.

The federal tax on the excess of appraisement, if it stands, will be approximately $25,000.

Required bonds for the appeal have been approved by Judge Hughes of the Washington county court.

DONORA HAS A LIVELY LEAGUE

Donora, Washington county's bustling steel city, has a live wire in the way of a city league of baseball clubs, which plays twilight games. The league is composed of six teams, made up principally of steel workers, and a schedule of seventy-five games for the season has been arranged. The games are played at Americo park, just north of the borough line, and the diamond is laid out on a portion of the old McIlvaine farm. A bleacher stand has been erected, while the improved road also furnishes points of advantage from which spectators can view the games. The season opened on Monday, and every evening hundreds of people turn out to witness the games. It certainly is a great institution, and one that tends to furnish an interesting diversion for the people of that community.

Athletes Will Leave Early For County Seat

Early tomorrow forenoon Charleroi's nineteen high school athletes will leave by automobile for Washington, where they will take part in the county athletic meet, scheduled to take place at College park, beginning at one o'clock in the afternoon. The local competitors finished their training Friday afternoon, and are entering the various contests with a determination to carry off first prize. All of Charleroi's representatives have trained faithfully and are bound to give a good account of themselves. They will be accompanied by a large number of high school students, and will be in charge of their coach. It is desired to start for the county seat as early as possible, in order that all contestants may secure as much rest as possible before they are called to the scratch in the various events. All contestants will wear numbers, which will be scheduled on the program. Charleroi has been assigned the numbers from 13 to 31 inclusive, as follows: 13, McKenna; 14, Chalder; 15, Beazell; 16, Dawson; 17, Webster; 18, Ohliger; 19, Arter; 20, Bruce; 21, Daniel; 22, Albright; 23, Smith; 24, Boulanger; 25, Provins; 26, Bowers; 27, Gray; 28, Carson; 29, Stephens; 30, Lichter; 31, Underwood.

WARNS AGAINST PICK-POCKETS NEW OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

Chief of Police Albright asks that all residents use more than usual precaution on Saturday, while the show is here to protect their valuables and particularly their money. He has received intimations that a number of pickpockets are following the show, and while the management of the circus is in nowise responsible for this condition, yet it appears to be a corollary from which all such exhibitions must suffer.

Chief Albright suggests that people must leave their homes that all doors and windows be securely locked, leave no money in the house, and carry but little on your person. Pickpockets and "dips" do the greater part of their work in crowds, and for this reason the safest place for your money is to place it in banks. It is known that many people are in the habit of carrying large sums of money on their person, but on a day like Saturday, with the circus here, it would be safer to deposit such valuables in the bank. We have three such institutions, all of them sound, who will be glad to take care of your money, not only for Saturday, but for every other day as well. Anyhow, it is suggested that people should be on the watch for suspicious characters, and look well after their money and other valuables.

HUNDREDS VISIT EXHIBIT AT SCHOOLS ON THURSDAY

ENTERTAINMENT FOR RED AND BLACK FUND

On Thursday evening of next week the Sophomore A. Class of the local high school will present a three-act farce comedy, "The Hoodoo," in the auditorium, for the benefit of the "Red and Black" fund. The merit of the undertaking should draw a hearty response from the student body, and their heartiest support is solicited. Tickets may be procured of members of the class.

COAL TONNAGE FOR LAKES IS SHORT

It is predicted that unless there is an immediate improvement in the general railroad situation in the very near future the Great Lakes district and the Northwest will be short on fuel during the coming winter. It is said that the stocks of fuel which were left over last spring, as well as those which were transported to those points last summer have all been exhausted, due to the very severe weather of the past winter.

At this season of the year there should be a daily shipment to the lakes of 25,000 tons, but owing to the strike conditions very little coal has got through, and practically all of this has been consumed in districts immediately served by the railroads. The Great Lakes are now open for traffic, but there is no coal offering, simply because of the lack of rail- way transportation. The operators and miners are not at fault, as they are ready to send forward the usual consignments, and have already many sidings at the terminals filled with loaded cars, but there is no way of getting the coal to the vessel at the lakes.

The lake regions are short it is estimated at least 500,000 tons at this date compared with railroad records of former years. The railroads ought now to be carrying at least 25,000 tons per day, while during July, August and September the amount should reach 40,000 tons. If conditions do not improve very materially in a short time there is bound to be a great shortage of coal in the northwest by the time the lakes are closed with ice this coming fall.

The P. H. C. Carnival will be held in P. H. C. hall Friday evening May 7. All members and friends are urged to attend. Business meeting at 7:28-13.

Result of Extravagance.
These are not the necessities of life; they can scarcely be called the conveniences; and yet, only because they look pretty, how many want to have them! By these, and other extravagances, the genteel are reduced to poverty, and forced to borrow of those whom they formerly despised, but who, through industry and frugality, have maintained their standing, in which case it appears plainly that "A plover man on his legs is higher than a gentleman on his knees," as Poor Richard says.—Benjamin Franklin.
